Hey, I just wanted to tell you: I was toodling around with your new tech-comm Visual IX CD in my class the other day, and although the students were busy at their computers, they couldn't help looking up when I blurted out "OOOOH! COOL!!!!" as I played around with the coffee web site's moveable elements. I put it on the projector screen, and they thought it looked fun!

(Although they were skeptical of my layout skills as I jumbled everything up...heheheh).

The course, btw, is ETC 324 Electronic & Online Communication.

Would it be kosher for me to burn a few copies for them to experiment with? If not, is there a way we can buy copies?

Your fan,

CeeJ
